

FOX 2005-2006 ■ New Season Presentation

Princes of Malibu

This unscripted series, filled with humor and some universally relatable family issues, uncovers the comedy that inevitably arises when two free-wheeling adult brothers live at home with their mother and stepfather. The difference here is that their home is a luxurious 22-acre compound by the sea. Set in the ritzy, sun-drenched environs of tony Malibu, California, the show will reveal both the drama and the humor as BRANDON and BRODY JENNER live the high life while trying to coexist with their step-dad – who happens to be legendary musician, composer, arranger and producer DAVID FOSTER.

The recipient of 14 Grammy Awards, Foster has worked with some of the most successful artists in the music industry – world-class performers such as Paul McCartney, Barbra Streisand, Lionel Richie, Whitney Houston, Toni Braxton, Celine Dion, Neil Diamond, Josh Groban and many others. But while Foster's prolific career continues to soar, things at home have gotten complicated when it comes to his stepsons Brandon (23) and Brody (21).

The boys are attractive and charming and they've learned how to use their "skills" to get themselves out of tricky situations. They can do no wrong in the eyes of their mother, LINDA THOMPSON, an award-winning songwriter herself and a former Miss Tennessee who once dated Elvis Presley and was married to Olympian Bruce Jenner (the boys' father). So while Foster is hard at work, Brandon and Brody are working hard at spending his money – running up tabs at expensive restaurants, partying all night, and bringing literally hundreds of friends and strangers home with them.

All that is about to stop. Foster is putting his foot down. He's being driven to distraction and the boys' antics aren't exactly pleasing neighbors like Streisand, Britney Spears and Pamela Anderson. If Brandon and Brody want to keep living under Foster's roof, they'll have to act more responsibly and start paying their own way.

The series is produced by GRB Entertainment. Gary Benz, Brant Pinvidic and Spencer Pratt are the executive producers.
